

-----
Title: Catechetical Lectures

Author: Lady LaBelle Decantor
-----

Second Lesson

Let a Government
command her people with integrity to one primary source.

What is the primary
source?

An established precept
of behavior known as Principle.

What is a Principle?
There are three.
Truth. Love. Courage.

How does a polity govern
succsesfully by these Principles?

The Government
successfull by the Principles is the Government endowed with leaders of moral and ethical standard. The Government that
appoints its leaders
based on postulate, fails.
Verity in these Principles is sighted
through the deeds, and
notions of would be leaders.

Can Truth, Love and Courage be defined in correlation to
Governance?

Yes. The Truthful
Government demonstrates adherence to the
pandect and doctrines
they impose upon their
populace.

The Loving Government
will express affection
for her people in times of great fortune and equal in times of grave distress. The Courageous Government, regardless of consequence, remains steadfastly convicted
to decisions that will ultimately benefit her
population, and not the individual.

Must integrity to the primary source be
absolute?

It must be. Subsequent to the Government that
commands her people,
asserting the
fundamental precept, will
evolve a territory
populated with loyal,
prosperous, and righteous
people.

In Virtue,

~Lady LaBelle Decantor~